

Joshua Powers

Shareholder

Chattanooga | 423.209.4137 | jpowers@bakerdonelson.com

Atlanta | 423.209.4137

Josh Powers concentrates his practice in medical malpractice, and he also has significant experience in products liability, legal malpractice, and insurance coverage disputes.

Mr. Powers routinely defends hospitals, doctors and nursing homes throughout Tennessee and Georgia in malpractice litigation. In February 2009, he secured a defense verdict in a two-week jury trial in McNairy County, Tennessee, where the plaintiffs were alleging the wrongful birth of their child.

Mr. Powers also has significant experience in products liability, legal malpractice and insurance coverage disputes.

Prior to law school, he served in the U.S. Peace Corps from 1982 to 1985 in the Kingdom of Tonga, and then worked for Coca-Cola® USA in Atlanta and New York City from 1985 to 1989.

Professional Honors & Activities

- Listed in The Best Lawyers in America® for Medical Malpractice Law - Defendants since 2012; Litigation - Health Care since 2018
- Named Best Lawyers® 2021, 2018, 2014, and 2012 Medical Malpractice Law - Defendants "Lawyer of the Year" in Chattanooga
- Selected to Mid-South Super Lawyers (2012 – 2016, 2019, 2024)
- AV® Preeminent™ Peer Review Rated by Martindale-Hubbell
- Member – Tennessee, Georgia and American Bar Associations
- Member – DRI
- Clerk – Shelby County Circuit Court Judge, Janice Holder (1991 – 1992)

Webinars

- COVID-19: Resuming Elective Procedures and the Key Legal Issues Health Care Providers Need to Know (May 2020)

Education

- Rhodes College, B.A., 1982
- University of Memphis Law School, J.D., 1992

Admissions

- Tennessee, 1992
- Georgia, 1993