

Tom Daschle Comments on King v. Burwell Ruling in The Atlantic

With the recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling in King v. Burwell, the battle over the Affordable Care Act may now shift from a legal battle to a political one. In this article in The Atlantic, former Senate Majority Leader Tom Daschle weighs in on the debate over what current Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell may do.

"I think Mitch is still going to be under a lot of pressure to schedule at least one more repeal vote," said Mr. Daschle. "Not because they think it's good politically in November 2016, but it's good politically for their base. In the longer term I don't think that's going to work."

Read the Article